Village to be Host to Huge Shrine Event

Medinah Potentate, Band to Be Feted by County Organization

Unique in the annals of Shrine-dom is the huge gathering at which Lake County Shrine organizations will honor Fred B. Swanson of Antioch, potentate of Medinah temple, Chicago, here Sunday afternoon and evening, June 25. It was announced at a meeting of the Antioch village council Tuesday evening.

The famed 125-piece Medinah brass band and 50 chanters will be present to give concerts at the Antioch Township High school grounds at 3 and 7 p. m., it was revealed.

Since this is a fiftieth anniversary year Medinah representatives are expected to be present in force, to the estimated number of 2,000—in addition to the many other visitors who are expected to attend the concerts. Because of the scope of the affair, plans were begun at the council meeting for the co-operation of village officials and other organizations to insure suitable accommodations for all visitors. The Antioch Lions club and the American Legion post and auxiliary are among those which have already evidenced their willingness to co-operate.

Many dignitaries have accepted invitations to be present. Potentate Swanson informed the council, at the same time extending the Shrine's request that Village President George B. Bartlett give the address of welcome as representative of the host community.

Village "Budget" $24,500. It will take $24,500 to run the village of Antioch from May 1, 1944, to April 30, 1945, according to the annual appropriation ordinance as adopted by the council.

The sewer and water department fund has the largest allotment, $4,625. Next are the general fund and the parks and playgrounds maintenance fund, with $3,650 and $3,500, respectively.

The fire department is expected to require $3,200; streets and alleys fund, $3,250; police department $2,250. Street lighting will cost $1,900; bonded indebtedness, including retirement of $1,200 worth of bonds and $175 interest, $1,375. An allowance of $500 is being made for contingent and unforeseen expenses.

In keeping with the law and provisions set forth in the ordinance, the ordinance is being published in full elsewhere in this issue of the Antioch News.

Legion Carnival Set
Permission to the Antioch Legion to hold its annual summer carnival Thursday, Friday, Saturday and Sunday, July 13, 14, 15 and 16, was granted by the council.

Persons having a degree supplemented by the special engineering sciences and management war training course sponsored by the U. S. Office of Education may also qualify.

Black Bass Fishing To Open Here June 15

The season for black bass, which will open here in northern Illinois June 15, is being awaited with considerable interest by fishermen who have been reporting fine catches of other fishy species during the spring months.

The size limit is ten inches and the daily limit is ten.

The season in Wisconsin waters in this region will open June 20.

State highway maintenance crews have been repairing the pavement of Highway 21 in the village and north to the Wisconsin state line.

Lads Yelp for Help, Then Save Themselves

Apparently galvanized into action by the sound of Antioch's siren as it blasted a summons for the Rescue squad, two teen age youths who yelled for help when their boat capsized on Lake Antioch Saturday morning hurriedly worked their way to the far shore and "saved themselves," Capt. Herman Holbek reported.

The call for the squad was put in by a bystander who heard their cries and saw the youths beckoning for aid. This was the first call the squad has received to Lake Antioch since the site formerly occupied by lowlands was flooded and established as a wild life refuge several years ago.

"We urge swimmers, fishermen and boating parties to keep in mind the fact that areas of the lake that were once dry land are now under water that would reach above a person's head," Capt. Holbek advises. "Fishermen have reported depths of 15 and 20 feet in some parts of Lake Antioch."

During the two years she has taught here, Miss Kruss has taken an active part in community affairs and has made many friends who will wish her success in her work at Lockport.

Mrs. Coscarelli plans to return to her home in Michigan this summer. Miss Culliton is to be married, June 19, and will make her home afterward in Linton, S. Dak.

House Fires, Truck Collision Bring Calls

Fire of unknown origin caused damages amounting to approximately $500 to the home of Mrs. Eva Barnstable, 634 North Main street, Wednesday noon.

An hour later, the Antioch department was called to Silver Lake to help the Silver Lake and Wilmet fire departments in combating a roof fire that threatened to destroy a dwelling.

Saturday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock the fire department and rescue squad were called to Highway 41 about a mile and a half north of the Wisconsin state line when a transport truck driver lost his life as the result of a collision that set fire to the gasoline tank of his vehicle and also to the gasoline tank truck with which he collided.

The transport truck driver, George Theisen, 32, of Milwaukee, was wedged into his cab by the impact which drove the steering wheel and metal portions of the vehicle back against his body, and was found at a coroner's autopsy held later in Kenosha to have suffered a fractured skull. Members of the Kenosha sheriff's department and the Kenosha rescue squad added in extricating the body, which was badly burned, after the flames were subdued. An acetylene torch had to be used to cut away the steel portions of the wreckage.

The tank truck driver, Arthur Valento, 28, Chicago, brought his vehicle to a stop about 500 feet ahead and leaped from the cab unhurt when he saw flames burst from the rear end of the tank.

The exact manner in which the accident occurred could not be determined. Both vehicles were heading north.

Lowly Work Has Dignity, Speaker Tells Graduates

Live in Accordance With Basic Principles, Newcomb Advises Class of '44

"Education in its broader sense consists of learning the basic principles of our life, and happiness consists of living in accordance with them," Charles Milton Newcomb of Delaware, O., told members of the 1944 graduating class at Antioch Township High school's twenty-ninth annual commencement exercises, Friday evening in the school gymnasium.

In an informal, amusing talk entitled "How to Be Happy Though Educated" and illustrated with anecdotes and humorous stories, Newcomb touched upon a person's life work and his relationships with his family and friends as two of the more important factors in making for a happy life. Even more important than these, he said, is the necessity for working out a spiritual concept or philosophy of life that will include and vitalize all other factors.

"No matter how lowly a person's work may seem, if it is well done it is important and has dignity," he emphasized.

Service Men Cited
Service star flags honoring five of the 45 graduates who are already in the United States armed service were displayed at the back of the speaker's platform.

The five who were unable to be present were announced by T. R. Birkhead, Principal, as Walter C. Calhoun, Theodore Carl Carlson, Joseph F. Nader, Jr., Leonard D. Robin and George Wimmer. Their certificates of graduation and their service stars were to be presented to members of their families after the close of the program.

Those who received their certificates from Walter K. Hills, president of the board of education, were:

Idal Maier, Ruth Marie McGlynn, Louise H. Meinersmann, John Henry Messager, Charles Dean Moran, Edna L. Pedersen, Bill Petty, Gerda Pierce, Judy R. Pregenzner.

Billie May Runyard, Irene Ryan, Anne Marie Schweizer, Mae Louise Selek, Clarence Gordon Severson, Carol Ruth Upton, Irving Weber, Carole White, Therese Marie Wimmer, Rose Marie Zellhofer, Frances Catherine Zimmerman.

Rose Marie Zellhofer was valedictorian of the Class of 1944 and Ralph Lasco was salutatorian.

Ralph Lasco was class president, James Cunningham vice-president, Judy Pregenzner secretary and Grace King treasurer. Class advisors were Miss Ethel Dixon and Melvin Stillson.

Band, Chorus Assist

Helping to add to the impressiveness of the program, which was attended by a capacity gathering, were selections by the high school band and chorus, under the direction of Hans von Holwede.

The exercises opened with a procession of the graduates in their caps and gowns. Following the invocation, by the Rev. A. D. McKay, rector of St. Ignatius' Episcopal church, the band presented a group of numbers including the "Prelude" from Wagner's opera, "Lohengrin"; "Marche Slav"; Tchaikewski, and Sousa's "Stars and Stripes Forever."

"Reve Angelique," Rubinstein, and "Giannina Mia," Friml, were sung by the chorus.

After the commencement address and presentation of diplomas, the singing of "The Star Spangled Banner" and the recessional closed the exercises.

Man Who Helped Lay Out Zion Streets Dies

William Thomas Loblaw, 80, who was the first man sent to the Zion City site by the late Dr. John Alexander Dowle after that founder of the community had purchased the 11-square-mile tract of land for a church home for the Christian Catholic church in Zion, died Saturday night after an extended illness.

Loblaw was the first street commissioner of Zion and helped in the laying out of the streets and parkways and installations of trees.

Funeral services were held Wednesday from Grace Missionary church, Zion.

Honor Roll Dedication Is Held at Round Lake

Members of the Antioch American Legion post assisted in the dedication of a new Honor Roll at Round Lake, Sunday afternoon under the auspices of the Round Lake Lions club.

Those taking part from here included Otto S. Klass, Americanization officer and advisor to the Junior Legion Drum and Bugle corps; Roman B. Vos, service officer; Walter K. Hills and L. C. Heath, who acted as color bearers. Acting as a color guard were two sailors from Great Lakes.

W. J. Murphy of Round Lake was general chairman for the dedication.

Party Held at Long Lake Home is Real "Surprise"

"Looks like the Foelkers are having a little party," said their neighbors on Rollins road one-half mile west of Grub Hill road at Long Lake, last Friday night. And they were, but they didn't know it.

When the members of the John Foelker family of 6367 North Claremont avenue, Chicago, arrived at the cottage Saturday afternoon to spend the week-end, they found that somebody—or several somebodies—had already spent part of it there.

The beds had been slept in, food stored in the kitchen had disappeared, the furnishings were somewhat the worse for wear and tear, a mattress had been carried out into the yard, and articles about the place had been augmented by (1) an empty whiskey bottle; (2) a partly emptied bottle of gin; (3) an engineer's cap; (4) a pair of pliers.

Neighbors reported having heard sounds of revelry until a late hour.

Theories including "Goldilocks and the Three Bears," as advanced by light-minded discussors-of-the-affair were not taken into consideration by Lake county sheriff's deputies. They have been looking for a party who's looking for his pliers, bonnet and bottles.

Forest Park Concern Leases Edgar Building

The Frosty-Sno company of Forest Park, Ill., began work early this week preparing the Edgar building for removal of its plant to Antioch, some time after July 1.

The company, of which John Offedahl is owner, specializes in the manufacture of Christmas window displays and decorations.

According to J. G. Soma, who is in charge of the installation of machinery and ovens and who will act as production manager, approximately 15 employees, half of whom will be men, will be needed.

The displays manufactured by the company are made from silicate formulas, Soma states.

The building was formerly occupied by the Main garage and service station, operated by Arthur Maplethorpe, and Bernie C. Koolman's automobile agency. It has been taken over by the Frosty-Sno company on a three-year lease, according to Soma.

"Let Them Eat Bread!"

Hollywoodian tears have been spilling from the usually dry eyes of Broadway press-agents and gossip columnists over the 30 per cent Federal tax on night-club entertainment.

First came the mean that hiking the check—to help pay for the war—was hurting the armed forces' morale. But even Broadway couldn't swallow that one! Then the glycerine globules began falling for the 15,000 assorted "entertainers" thrown out of work.

We've wondered what a man in uniform would think about this, and now one of them has told us. Speaking to business executives assembled in Chicago by the National Association of Manufacturers and Illinois Manufacturers' Association to consider problems of war production in the face of a constantly increasing manpower shortage, Lieut. Gen. Brehon Sonervall said:

"There's too much sorrow among the families of our fighting lads to waste tears on a master-of-ceremonies out of a soft job! Our boys are dying in Burma and in the jungles of the South Pacific—in Italy and in the air over Germany.

"Let's put these (night club) men to work at something useful. There are plenty of jobs for them in your plants, on the railroads and steamships that are carrying the guns and ammunition to our fighters."

May there be a chorus of a million Amens!

I Want a House

My dream of the future takes the shape of a house I'd like to own.

I want a little house that looks as if it grew from the ground, so right and natural its contours.

I want a huge living room with a fireplace at one end, my grandmother's graceful black walnut chairs and pearl-inlaid writing cabinet. But I also want a wall of glass on the west, that will bring the outdoors in.

I want the new, tiny, hidden radiators I've read about, and a heating system that minds itself—but I want miles and miles of bookshelves so I can bring all the old friends down out of the attic—yes, even "The Little Colonel" and "Anne of Green Gables!"

I'd like the last word in kitchens, with a postwar refrigerator—the kind that's going to have running ice water and all sorts of gadgets—and every other convenience that the mind and "know-how" of industry may devise and produce. But I want a garden of old-fashioned flowers and morning glories over the trellis.

I want to keep the old things that give meaning and continuity to living. But I want to refresh and embellish the past out of exciting post-war thinking.

The best of the old and the best of the new—that's my idea of what the future should be, for me and for America.—Susan Thayer, Columnist, Industrial Press Service.

Pepper, 1/4 tsp. Salt, 1 tsp.

Cook onion in fat until soft over low heat. Stir in bread crumbs, add milk and cook until thick. Remove from heat; add seasonings, macaroni and parsley; mix lightly. Place some of mixture in center of each slice of ham; bring ends together to overlap and fasten with skewers or toothpicks. Place in shallow baking pan; bake in moderate oven (350° F.) 30 to 35 minutes. Makes 6 servings.

Why you'll want a new modern range in your post-war kitchen

During wartime you've learned a lot about the benefits of vitamins. So, of course, when victory is won you'll want a modern range that makes vitamin-saving cooking easy. A range with efficient heat control to cook foods in little or no water... to cook foods in their own natural juices. And think of all the other features! Streamlined styling... automatic oven control... easy-to-use broiler... utility drawer! Indeed, you'll want a modern range to be the first step to your new post-war kitchen.

This Is the Way It Happened

Long Awaited 'Second Front' Spells Liberation for Many Occupied European Countries

Nazi sources first broke the story, announcing that naval units were shelling Le Havre, France, and that landing craft were nearing the shores. Landing attempts, general along the English channel coast, followed in reality the arrowed diagram of planes and ships from England to France.

Light broadened on the horizon . . . Thousands of planes blotted out the pale sky as their wings carried them onward to the thunder of their engines . . . Below, more than 6,000 ships of all types moved in a mass over the English channel . . .

Short moments later, hundreds of paratroopers tumbled from the planes and the sky over French Normandy was filled with the little, white billows of their 'chutes; big battleships opened up a quaking fire on the French coast, and then landing vessels poked their snub-noses onto the sandy beaches and U. S. and British troops poured ashore, with tanks and other equipment unloaded behind them.

The invasion of Europe was on, the second front had been established.

Thus did June 6, 1944, go down in history as the date on which the democratic powers of U. S. and Britain challenged Adolf Hitler's "New Order" on his own battlegrounds of western Europe, the mighty gate to the Nazis' continental fortress, organized under dominion of the German Wehrmacht.

Taking place 80 miles across the channel from England, the first Allied landings were made between the great ports of Le Havre and Cherbourg on the French coast, while masses of planes and ships bombarded Dieppe, Abbeville and Boulogne, farther to the east.

From the start, the invasion was a fight to the finish, with German destroyers and E-boats attacking the huge Allied fleet off the French coast. German reservists concentrated behind the lines for emergency service, rushed forward to meet U. S. and British paratroopers descending from the skies, and to combat Allied armored units pressing inland with tanks.

In the thunderous crescendo of the early fighting, the Allies penetrated from seven to ten miles inland, and reinforcements were put ashore to support the attack.

Under supreme command of U. S. Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, with British Gen. Bernard L. Montgomery in charge of ground troops and British Adm. Bertram Home Ramsay leading the naval forces, U. S. and British fighting then spearheaded the invasion, receiving support from smaller units of Norwegians, Poles, Dutch, French and Greeks.

As the Allies secured beachheads on the French coast and thrust inland toward Paris, German forces counterattacked vigorously under icy, 60-year-old Field Marshal von Rundstedt and storied Erwin Rommel. Adolf Hitler, himself, reportedly rushed to the invasion area to preside over the enemy's military directorate.

Speaking in Britain's house of commons after the invasion got under way, Prime Minister Winston Churchill declared that the landing operations were supported by 11,000 first-line aircraft, available for use in any particularly critical sector.

The Allies' invasion came after the victorious assault on Rome and weeks of intensive aerial bombardment designed to wreck his communications, defenses and industry in the west.

Throwing the full weight of the U. S. Fifth and British Eighth armies at the Germans in the Italian offensive, the Allies successfully tied up an estimated 25 divisions, or about 300,000 Nazis, in that country.

Rather than call upon additional reserves to stem the Allies' determined drive in Italy, the Nazi command decided on a laborious retreat up the mountainous peninsula to the north, where they could eliminate the constant threat of landings in their rear, and yet fall back upon the last rugged peaks of the Apennines for a natural defense.

Although German Marshal Albert Kesselring managed to pull the bulk of his forces out of the trap Allied Commander Gen. Harold Alexander had set by attacking at Cassino to the south and then later at Anzio at the enemy's back to the northwest, the vigor of the U. S. and British drive resulted in the infliction of heavy casualties.

Not only was a high toll taken of German troops in the line and of their rearwards putting up a desperate delaying action, but Allied war planes ranging over the enemy's route of retreat shot up hundreds of vehicles wheeling Nazi soldiers and equipment to the north.

Because of their refusal to send more troops into Italy and thus draw upon their precious reserves for the invasion from the west, the German high command was compelled to surrender Rome and the boot of the big peninsula.

SOFTENED UP

Important factor in the Allies' landings on the French channel coast was the prolonged bombardment of enemy positions within the whole area by fleets of thousands of U. S. and British war-planes of all types, from flashy fighter-bombers to the more ponderous Flying Fortresses and Lancasters.

Fortifications, airfields, railroads, power stations—everything of use to the Nazis in the defense against the invasion came under the bombardments of Allied armor.

By hammering at railroad lines, the Allied command sought to disrupt the transport of troops and supplies to the areas where landings might be made. Not only did Vichy's collaborationists plead with French engineers to stay at the throbbles in the face of the severe bombardments, but the Germans even rushed key transport squads to help in keeping open the battered rail communications.

Thus was the invasion launched only after the most careful and thorough destruction of essential elements in the enemy's defenses.

FORTRESS BARRIERS

Despite the extravagant propaganda of Hitler's "Atlantic Wall," the Nazis reportedly have taken no chances on putting all of their chips on it; on the contrary, not only have they spoken of the necessity of launching decisive counterattacks against the invading forces, but they also have constructed defenses as far back as the German frontier.

In constructing these defenses far to the rear of the English channel, the once-masters of the "blitz" have recognized the full weight which Supreme Commander Gen. Eisenhower will be able to throw at them. As a result, not only have they built strong fortifications of concrete and steel for miles back of the French coast, but they have also converted the once heralded Maginot line into a defensive bastion, to support their own famed Siegfried or "west wall."

These Are Our Leaders in Battle . . .

Here are "thumbnail" biographies of the Allied invasion leaders:

Gen. Dwight David Eisenhower, 53, supreme commander of all Allied forces, led the successful operation in North Africa, Sicily and Italy. He was born in Texas but reared in Kansas. In two years he rose from lieutenant colonel to a full general, and top-man for the invasion.

Air Chief Marshal Sir Arthur Tedder, 52, wounded infantryman of World War I, who successfully commanded Middle East and Allied Mediterranean air forces, is deputy supreme Allied commander.

Lieut. Gen. James H. ("Jimmy") Doolittle, 47, "the man who bombed Tokyo," is in command of the U. S. Eighth air force.

Beaches like these were first military objectives.

GENERAL DWIGHT D. EISENHOWER
Supreme Allied Commander.

Ground Force Chief

LIEUT. GEN. OMAR NELSON
BRADLEY

Missouri born, quiet-mannered Bradley was the hero of the American victory at Biscaye. His job is to lead his men from the channel to Berlin.

Deputy Commander

AIR CHIEF MARSHAL SIR
ARTHUR TEDDER

Britain who turned to the air after being wounded as infantryman in World War I.

Allied Promise

Although France was the first country to feel the impact of Allied strength, United Nations' leaders promised to strike through Norway and the lowlands in their war for liberation.

Shown above are the six most likely invasion routes as seen by Allied military strategists. Initial German reports put the invasion front opposite the south England coast, centering around the Seine river estuary and the Seine bay, about 80 miles from the British side across the English channel, along a stretch of about 75 miles of the French coast.

The area indicated in white on the above map is the Nazi defense zone. Continued bombing of key communications lines complicated the enemy's transportation problems and the past months of hammering at the German Luftwaffe so weakened that unit that the Allied air force dictated terms on which they should meet. Several weeks ago it was reported that Field Marshal Erwin Rommel had moved approximately a quarter of a million men to that area.

'Good Luck'

Combs are happily sped on their way on "D-Day."

'D'-Day Tests Allies' 4 Years Of Planning

The most daring undertaking in military history—the Allied invasion of western Europe—came as the result of four years of complex, methodical planning on the part of United Nations' military leaders.

It was just after the "miracle of Dunkirk," when Britain's army in France was rescued from almost certain destruction, that Allied military leaders began planning for a return trip. Observers recall that except for that almost unbelievable evacuation, Britain might have fallen in the months that passed. Dunkirk was one of the greatest feats of military history, with 337,000 men rescued from that little port city in the face of terrible odds.

During the months that followed, Britain was forced to content herself with a superbly courageous defense of her home islands against the Nazi blitz from the air. The blood, sweat and tears promised by Prime Minister Churchill proved a true prophecy. England suffered bloody blows. The crescendo of the battle was reached in September, 1940. Although air attacks continued, it was then the Germans realized their aerial losses were greater than the results warranted.

Although the story has never been told in its entirety, it was then, too, that a hastily planned Nazi invasion of Britain was choked. Fragments of news told how hundreds of German invasion boats had been located and sunk by the Royal Air Force. That, more than anything, proved to the British that an invasion must be carefully, methodically planned to the most minute detail.

Then the Commandos were organized under Lord Mountbatten. All through the next year they developed their own techniques by hit-and-run raids against enemy-held coastal areas. The damage they did managed to keep the Nazis in a constant state of alertness.

Then came the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor, December 7, 1941. Britain had gained a powerful ally. It marked the beginning of the end for the Axis powers.

American troops landed in North Africa in January, 1942. Plans for the invasion were shaping up. It was only a question of time. It wasn't long before U. S. fighting men were stationed in Britain itself.

Three months later American and British troops invaded French North Africa. The landings, carefully planned and perfectly timed, were brilliantly successful. It was here that an inexperienced American army got its baptism of fire. It learned the caliber of the foe, finding that the Germans were stubborn, brave opponents.

In May, 1943, the Americans, British and Fighting French eliminated the Nazis from Africa. Then followed the invasion of Sicily. It was a surprise assault and resulted in victory in 38 days. The Sicilian campaign marked the highest point to that time in Allied cooperation. But they still operated with separate armies, navies and air forces. Complete integration was impossible.

Then came the invasion of Italy. A mixed British-American army stormed the Salerno beaches on September 9. The landing was successful because of the smooth combination of air, sea and land forces. British and American air superiority was never questioned. Naval units of both nations landed men and equipment and kept them supplied.

During all these operations, plans for the invasion were going ahead in England. Nazi propagandists boasted of their fortress, all the while admitting that invasion was inevitable.

The battle of the Atlantic shipping lanes had been won. Submarines were still a menace, but the grave threat had been removed. Huge convoys of men and war material moved to Great Britain with losses at a minimum.

Air attacks on Germany and on the coast of France were stepped up almost beyond belief.

SOCIETY EVENTS

Florence Prince of Diamond Lake and Alfred Pedersen Wed

A wedding breakfast for 60 and a reception for more than 200 persons followed the 10 o'clock nuptial mass at which Miss Florence Evelyn Prince, Diamond Lake, and Alfred Paul Pedersen, Antioch, were united in marriage Saturday morning in St. Peter's Catholic church.

As the couple exchanged their vows before the pastor, the Rev. Francis M. Flaherty, in the presence of a large gathering of relatives and friends, the bride wore a gown of white marquisette, over which a long veil of illusion fell from a satin bonnet. Her bouquet was a shower of white roses and lilies of the valley.

Mrs. Vernon Mason, the former Mary Agnes Prince, attended her sister as matron of honor, wearing a blue sheer gown. Miss Edna Pedersen of Antioch, sister of the bridegroom, and Miss Elsie Johnson of Lake Forest, who were bridesmaids, were in yellow. All carried bouquets of pink and white carnations and yellow daisies, tied with satin ribbons that matched their gowns.

Little Miss Shirley Nelson, Antioch, as flower girl, was frocked in turquoise green with accessories in yellow and white, and scattered rose petals and pansies.

Winsor Dalgaard of Antioch acted as best man and Pvt. Richard L. Prince, cousin of the bride, was home from Inglewood, Calif., to act as groomsmen.

Myrus Nelson and Kenneth McCord of Antioch ushered.

The bride, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Laurence Prince of Diamond Lake, and was graduated from Libertyville Township High school in 1942, has been employed as secretary to the Libertyville public school board of education.

The bridegroom, son of the Alfred J. Pedersen of Highway 173, Antioch, has assisted in the operation of the Pedersen farm and farm implement business since his graduation from Antioch Township High school.

For the wedding and the breakfast afterward in St. Peter's parish hall for members of the wedding party and intimate relatives and friends, Mrs. Prince wore a silk frock with a floral print pattern and harmonizing accessories. The mother of the bridegroom was gowned in pale blue crepe. Both wore corsages of white carnations.

The reception was held in the evening in the American Legion hall in Libertyville.

Mr. and Mrs. Pedersen left by plane from Chicago Monday noon for California, where they plan to visit the bridegroom's sisters, Mrs. Bruce Dalgaard and Mrs. Gregory Yahnke, during their honeymoon.

On their return they plan to make their home on the Pedersen farm.

News of the boys

"somewhere in the southwest Pacific," sent me the 'Boys in the Service' column very regularly. I look forward every week to receiving the News, and I am sure my brother does, also.

"I am in good health and get good food to eat. I now weigh 200 pounds, so you can realize how good the food is.

"Australia's country is very beautiful. It reminds me often of the country around Antioch. I have been down on the beach a few times. The climate has been very warm, but now we are beginning our winter season. The swimming is all right, but I don't care much for the salt water. I would gladly trade it for a swim in Channel Lake any old day.

"I haven't met up with any of my Antioch 'cobbers' yet, but I haven't given up hope. Keep up your good work on the home front.

"La Da' (Australian saying for 'so long')."

From the Public Relations section of Fifth Army headquarters in Italy comes word that Corporal Robert E. Pittman, son of Mrs. Lillian Menke, Antioch, has been promoted to sergeant. He is now a squad leader in an infantry unit of the Fifth Army.

Sgt. S. O. Berg sends "a few lines to let you know I'm still enjoying your paper each and every week," from Moore Field, Mission, Texas.

"I am getting a furlough now, until June 13.

"Have enjoyed reading some of those write-ups the boys have sent on Texas, as it's now two years that I've been out here. Am getting so I can stand some of those 120° days we have out here.

"Am lucky in a way, as we built a swimming pool last year and I am enjoying it now whenever I get the chance to.

"The colored boys and officers each have their own swimming pool as well. The Wacs and cadets use our pool."

Raymond W. Baethke, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter H. Baethke of 611 Main street, is a member of the newest class of candidates to be assigned to the Midland Army Air Field, Tex., a key bombardier school of the Army Air Forces Training command.

Pvt. Jack E. Flanagan was recently transferred from Farmingdale, N. Y., to Camp Stewart, Ga.

George W. Christensen, MM 1/c, who had been a member of the "ship's company" at Great Lakes, is now at Shoemaker, California.

Sgt. Harold Atwood is on the Miami, Fla., APO list. Pfc. J. M. Atwood is receiving his mail via New York APO.

THE VICTORY VOLUNTEERS ARE ON THE WAY

Open your door and your heart to them

WHO is the Victory Volunteer? He (or she) is someone in your locality who has volunteered to work for the 5th War Loan Drive.

One of these volunteers may call at your home or place of work soon—on the most important mission of the hour!

In this 5th War Loan Drive, you're asked to go all-out with every dollar you can scrape up—for war expenditures are greater now than any time since Pearl Harbor. Double your extra War Bond investments. Whatever you do, buy at least one extra Bond now. Invest $100—$200—$300—$400—more if you can.

Yes, it's that important. The men who fought and bled and died for you haven't hesitated. Only by answering "yes" to the Victory Volunteer—only by investing to the limit—can you come at all close to matching their spirit. For their sake—and for your own future—open your door and your heart!

5TH WAR LOAN DRIVE Starts June 12th

It MAY not be possible for a Victory Volunteer to reach every home, plant, and office. If you are missed during the drive, go to your nearest bank or Post Office or wherever they sell War Bonds. Buy all you can—at least one extra Bond—the biggest Bond you can afford. And then, when you think you've reached your limit—buy some more!

Back the Attack!—BUY MORE THAN BEFORE!
